

AUTO-SLEEPER®

The front-facing bench seat for relaxing or travelling.

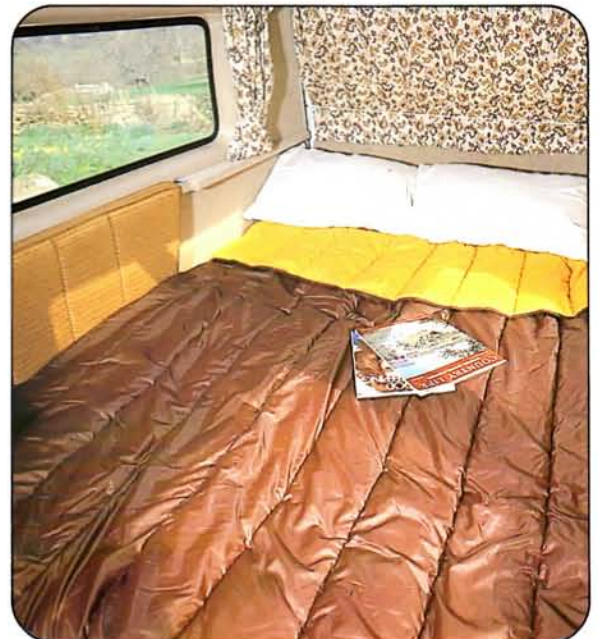

The upper sleeping arrangement, ideal for the youngsters.

Extensive cupboards complement the kitchen facilities.

Everything to hand in the most convenient kitchen area.

Comfortable and roomy sleeping accommodation.

Volkswagen Auto-Sleeper combine r

Volkswagen and Auto-Sleeper - two names so highly respected in their own fields that it would be natural to assume that when they joined forces they would produce something special. And they have.

The Volkswagen Auto-Sleeper combines the reliability of Volkswagen with the superb workmanship of Auto-Sleepers to give a motor caravan which is compact, comfortable but not cramped; fast, quiet and economical.

For the driver there are specially trimmed seats in the cab from where you control the new Volkswagen watercooled boxer engine.

Watercooling has been proved to give a fuel consumption 15% better than an air cooled model, and this from an engine with greater performance, flexibility and with a noise level inside the vehicle 50% lower than its air cooled counterpart.

Discerning drivers will also appreciate the option of a five-speed close ratio gear box as opposed to the overdrive type system.

Travelling passengers have the benefit of a roomy front-facing bench seat in the rear and an extra comfort factor of full carpeting which not only adds to the luxury, but cuts down road noise.

But it is when it stops and becomes a holiday home rather than a vehicle that the Volkswagen Auto-Sleeper comes into its own.

Years of experience, carefully chosen materials, superior workmanship and superb design have produced a motor caravan perfect for the most demanding of holidays - and families.

The fully insulated, spring assisted roof is raised from inside - a boon in bad weather, and you don't even have to go outside in the rain to check the levels in the underfloor tank serving the pressurised water supply, thanks to a calibrated gauge inside. To cater for the Dinette area.

Luxurious seating in a well-designed cab.

Engine

The new watercooled boxer engine in the Volkswagen Auto-Sleeper is available with two power outputs: 60 bhp (44 kW) and 78 bhp (57 kW). Both develop maximum torque in the medium speed range but the additional output enables higher cruising speeds to be achieved. The watercooling gives the added benefits of rapid functioning of the heater in the coldest of weathers and reduced servicing costs.

Reliability with superb workmanship problems brought about by those hot summer days there is an opening window behind the sink and cooker and adjustable side panels in the roof to give added ventilation.

The kitchen in the Volkswagen Auto-Sleeper contains everything necessary for perfect holiday catering: a stainless steel cooker unit with two burners, a grill and cupboards beneath; a stainless steel sink with specially designed lid which provides extra working space - and more cupboards underneath; a 12-volt gas-operated refrigerator; a 12-volt plug and socket; and yet more storage cupboards complete with shelves adjacent to the preparation area.

Auto-Sleepers designers have created a lay-out which has separated the kitchen area from the U-shaped dinette with its removable table, beautifully contoured cushions with hard wearing covers and storage areas above and below the seats.

The cushions in the dinette convert into a double bed and there is another fully upholstered bed above it in the elevated roof.

This most special of motor caravans is complete with a good sized wardrobe, provision for a chemical toilet, fluorescent lighting, courtesy lights and full curtaining from high quality fabrics.

Auto-Sleepers and Volkswagen have produced the ideal combination: a perfectly planned, fitted and equipped interior powered by precision engineering ensuring economy and reliability.

The parcel shelf in position conceals a large boot capacity.

Transmission

Drivers of the Volkswagen Auto-Sleeper will be able to enjoy the benefits of the optional five-speed gearbox - which is designed to provide effortless motorway running. What confidence for the driver of the Volkswagen Auto-Sleeper on his long touring holidays!
