

Brush up on Auto-Sleepers latest masterpiece

For those seeking Auto-Sleepers' legendary design and craftsmanship with the reliability and durability of Volkswagen, the Trident has no peers. Indeed, the Trident and Trooper - its elevating roof counterpart - were the best selling Volkswagen motor caravans in 1988.

The already high level of specification has been further improved for 1989 to include a twin headlamp front grille, new style bumpers and spoiler, heated rear window with wash/wipe, intermittent and two speed windscreen wipers and even an illuminated vanity mirror.

Should you seek that little extra, the choice of optional equipment includes automatic transmission (petrol engined vehicles only), 2.1 litre fuel injected petrol engine, two diesel options, and syncro four wheel drive.

All in all, a leader in its class and one which will delight even the most fastidious owner.

the Trident opens up new horizons....

Please send me further details of the Trident and a copy of the Auto-Sleepers magazine.
